Why can't Tom Daschle stand up for South Dakota? Because Ted and Hillary are pulling his strings.

What do South Dakotans and the liberal elite in Washington, D.C. have in common? Not very much. Except for Tom Daschle. As South Dakota's senator and the leader of his party, many issues force Tom Daschle to choose between South Dakota values and partisan politics. One of those issues is your right to own a gun. You'd think that coming from a state like South Dakota, Daschle would fight for sportsmen's rights. But with D.C. liberals pulling his strings, Daschle has voted to ban guns,<sup>1</sup> shut down gun shows<sup>2</sup> and even close hundreds of thousands of acres to hunters.<sup>3</sup>

It's time to cut the strings that are pulling South Dakota in the wrong direction.

Stand up for your gun rights. Vote John Thune For Senate.
